Head For the Hills = local benefits

The Cedar Hill Rotary Club brought a crowd of members to a July City Council Meeting to support their officers presenting results from the Head For the Hills Rally and plaques to City departments that supported the event.

Over $27,000, raised by the May 10 event, will help support the local Rotary Club's Coats for Kids program, the Cedar Hill Food Pantry, Hope Mansion, Bridges Safe-house the Zula B. Wylie Library and a portion will go to Rotary International's charities.

Kay Kamm, current Rotary President and Treasurer Larry Horner reported that the rally continues to grow in participants and in fundraising. They extended appreciation to Dan Watkins who served as President during this year's Rally.

Dan is also a Librarian at Cedar Hill's ZBW Library.

The 2014 event brought 1,087 riders to Cedar Hill. They came from all over the metroplex and beyond, some from as far as Florida and Minnesota.

This successful event depends on support from several departments including Fire, Police, Tourism, Economic Development, Parks & Recreation, Library and others. Dozens of residents volunteer to help support the event and our community.

Mayor Pro Tem Chris Parvin noted that this event has grown dramatically in its short history and brings a lot of people to our community where they can enjoy some of our natural beauty and economic vitality.

The intern's inside view

Latavia Williams has been working as a free intern in the Public Relations Dept. this summer. We've been thrilled to have this talented graduate of Cedar Hill Collegiate High School on our staff. She has contributed much to several key projects, especially the launch of the new City website and Highlights newsletter production. She will be leaving us in August to finish her final semester at Texas Tech. We will miss her. We asked her to share her feelings about working for your city this summer.

Latavia Williams

I think the biggest misconception people have of city workers is the idea that they exist to make our lives miserable. They are the ones who hand out citations and create ordinances that a lot of people may not understand. It didn't dawn on me, until recently, that these are ways of keeping the city intact.

I started a Public Relations internship at the Cedar Hill Government Center this summer. Being a Cedar Hill resident for almost 20 years, and an uninformed college student, my initial thought of the city was, "prepare to be around a bunch of uptight employees who hate the people", but I think they are the complete opposite of uptight and hateful, and I can honestly say I have never been more wrong. The city employees have social gatherings, celebrate birthdays, and even in staff meetings, I feel as though I am at a family reunion rather than a workplace.

I never met a friendlier group of people who work together in one accord, all in attempts to make Cedar Hill the safest and healthiest community. Not only does the staff devise plans to make this suburb the best city possible, but they encourage suggestions and input from the public.

I was shocked to know that a lot of the staff actually lives in Cedar Hill, so they can relate to common concerns of the city.

Moreover, the staff encourages me to speak up and give insight knowing that I am a Cedar Hill native. I feel like my voice matters. They do not discriminate because of my age and lack of experience, and I am treated like part of the team rather than an insignificant intern.

I encourage everyone to go to a City Council meeting, look at the website, and follow the city on social media to know why things are going on, and what's happening in town.

Knowledge brings an understanding. Once people understand the city and its workers, maybe they can realize that city workers are people just like you and I. After all, someone who works for the city may very well be a neighbor, and I know I like to think of a neighbor as someone who always has my best interest at heart.

People make it a community

Kevin Driggers, center, was recognized for his promotion. He is joined by Brandy Driggers and Chief Ballard.

The July 8 City Council Meeting was an evening for recognizing outstanding neighborhoods.

1. Stoney Creek Estates - Most Active
2. Stonewood Heights - Most Improved
3. Lake Ridge - Premier Neighborhood Award

Alarm Monitoring 911SWRCC

For only $25 a month, you can have your home or business alarm monitored by the same local professional staff that dispatches police and fire crews for the City of Cedar Hill.

Instead of your alarm notifying someone several states away, this system connects directly into our local 9-1-1 call center. Saving seconds can save lives. It's only $25 a month and there is no long-term contract required. For more information contact SWRCC at 972.230.5248.

City website has new look, travels well

In July, Cedar Hill launched a new website with an open, airy design and new capabilities. The new site is designed to give visitors a better feel for our attractive community.

Public Relations Manager Corky-Brown said "The new design is awesome on mobile devices like phones and tablets. Content re-sizes on the fly to fit the window. Since over 40% of the visits to the City site come from mobile devices we want those users to have the best experience possible. Mobile is here and now."

Some content has been rearranged in a more logical structure. A powerful search tool helps find specific content.

A new addition to the website is the 'Visit Cedar Hill' tab on the home page. On the 'Visit' pages learn about Cedar Hill's attractions and things to do in the city. Look for the "This Week in Cedar Hill" (TWICH) blog to keep up with what's happening.

Featured attractions include, but are not limited to, Dogwood Canyon Audubon Center and the Cedar Hill Museum of History. Sports and recreational activities, entertainment, dining, and shopping are also found under this tab.

To experience and explore the new website and its features, visit cedarhilltx.com.

Brand new site, same old address:

cedarhilltx.com

Watering restrictions

No watering from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. seven days a week, May 1 to Sept. 30

From May 1 to September 30, outdoor watering between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. is prohibited by ordinance. Fines for violators start at $200 for the first offense.

The City requests no outside watering at all on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays to allow the system to replenish supplies in the water storage tanks.

There is a lot more information about Drought Response Stages on the City website at cedarhilltx.com/watering.

If any additional watering restrictions are required under the City's Drought Response Stages they will be posted on the City website, cedarhilltx.com.
