

CEDAR HILL HIGHLIGHTS

CITY OF CEDAR HILL RECOGNIZED BY NATIONAL ORGANIZATION FOR EXCELLENCE IN FINANCIAL REPORTING FOR 34TH CONSECUTIVE YEAR

The Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (GFOA) has awarded the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting to City of Cedar Hill for its annual comprehensive financial report for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2023.

The financial report has been judged by an impartial panel to meet the high standards of the program, which includes demonstrating a constructive “spirit of full disclosure” to clearly communicate its financial story and motivate potential users and user groups to read the report.

The Certificate of Achievement is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting, and its attainment represents a significant accomplishment by a government and its management.

The City of Cedar Hill has been awarded the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting for 34 consecutive years.

In conjunction with this award, an Award of Financial Reporting Achievement has also been presented to the Finance Department for their commitment to excellence in governmental accounting and financial reporting.

The City of Cedar Hill's annual comprehensive financial report (ACFR) is prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) and includes financial statements and statistical information about the City organization.

The ACFR is published each spring following an external audit and review by the city council. A copy of the report is available online in the Finance section of the City's website, cedarhilltx.com.

TRI-CITY TALES: MR. JAMES

When James Hicks retired nine years ago, he never planned on a second career. After working decades in the grocery distribution business, he was ready for time off. He was in his late 70s by then. He spent his time doing retiree stuff: volunteering at his church, riding his bike and walking his German shepherd.

But his daily dog walks took him right past Tri-City Animal Shelter. One day, he decided to stop in and see if they might need volunteers. The answer was yes. (The answer is always yes.) He spent several months helping out wherever he could, first a few days a week, and then almost daily. He fell in love with every dog he met, compelled to make each animal feel needed, and loved. "They are here through no fault of their own," he says.

One day when the shelter was trying to fill a part-time staff position, director Tammy Miller asked if he would be interested in applying for the job. "You're here all the time anyway," she told him. "You might as well get paid for it."

He started in the work room, doing laundry and washing dishes. He soon moved to animal care. Today, "Mr. James," as the staff calls him, arrives at 7:30 am three or four days a week, feeding dogs and taking them for walks outside. He drives the van taking animals to other shelters and charities.

If there's a need, he never says no – answering texts with heart and puppy feet emojis.

Once, a woman from a rescue organization was supposed to meet him at the shelter to pick up a dog. She had car trouble, and did not arrive until well after dark. Mr. James, who had started his shift early that morning, was still there to meet her.

Now 85, Mr. James is the oldest city employee in Cedar Hill. He has no plans for a second retirement. After all, there are too many dogs who need him.

ANGELA SELF NAMED PLANNING DIRECTOR

The City of Cedar Hill appointed Angela Self to lead the City's Planning Department. Self fills a vacancy created as former Planning Director Chasidy Benson was promoted to Assistant City Manager.

Self brings more than 26 years of experience in long-range planning, community engagement, and project management to the role of planning director in Cedar Hill. Before joining the Cedar Hill team, she managed planning and development for the City of Garland, leading complex revitalization and redevelopment initiatives.

Her expertise and contributions to the field have earned her awards from organizations such as the American Planning Association (APA) Texas Chapter, Neighborhoods USA, Greater Dallas Planning Council, and Preservation Dallas. In recognition of her achievements, Self was recently inducted into the AICP College of Fellows, the highest honor bestowed by the American Institute of Certified Planners.

"Angela is exceptionally qualified to lead our community's planning efforts," said City Manager Melissa Valadez-Cummings. "Her education, professional credentials, and passion for community engagement make her a perfect fit for Cedar Hill. We are delighted to welcome her to our team."

Self holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Urban Studies from Jackson State University and a Master of Arts degree in Urban and Regional Planning from The University of Iowa. She serves as Chair of the American Planning Association (APA) Housing and Community Development Division and actively volunteers with local and national housing policy and advocacy efforts, including the APA Housing Accelerator, a national campaign to improve capacity, identify critical solutions, and speed reforms to produce, preserve and provide a diverse range of quality housing.
